QUOTES WASHINGTON

Says Government Must Express Will Of People
Not Executive.

En Route With Senator Harding, Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Speaking today along the Ohio river Senator Warren G. Harding answered Gov. Cox in regard to his comparison of the slogans, "America First," and "Deutschland Uber Alles."

"The Democratic nominee," Senator Harding declared before a packed auditorium at Parkersburg, "has tried to make the slogan 'America First' appear as a selfish expression. He has compared it with the German slogan 'Deutschland Uber Alles' I remind you that under the slogan 'Deutschland Uber Alles' Germany in forty years reached world eminence in art, industry, letters and national accomplishments and what caused its downfall? The arrogance of one man, was it not?"

"I draw the object lesson, my country," Senator Harding said, "and that is—never in this country let one man dictate."

Aboard Senator Harding's Special Train, Sept. 29.—Swinging south and westward today into the pivotal state of Kentucky, Senator Warren G. Harding crossed and recrossed the Ohio river, renouncing in several speeches the system of "one man" government, which he says, has been fastened upon this country. He pledged himself, if elected to gather together "a council of men" to direct the destinies of America.

Sensor Harding's special train left Wheeling, W. Va., about daylight. He got out of that city just ahead of the arrival of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice-presidential nominee who is scheduled to speak tonight from the hall where Senator Harding spoke last night. At Wheeling the Republican candidate was made the central figure of the biggest political celebration he has yet encountered. Republicans from three states—West Virginia, Pennsylvania and his own state of Ohio—joined in giving the senator an uproarious demonstration of faith which lasted until the early hours of this morning. Leaving Wheeling the Harding special was enroute to Parkersburg and Huntington, both Ohio river towns and thence to Ashland, Ky., where the principal speech of the day was made.

Talks at Ashland.

At Ashland before a great open air gathering of river men and mountaineers from three states, Senator Harding argued for the "sailing of the ship of state with a full and skilled crew."

"I cannot express myself too strongly," he said, "against one man government with untrammelled centralized power. I am against the spirit of encroachment or assumption which may lead one of the greatest departments of our government to invade the functions of another."

"Though until very recent years we seem to have avoided it, the fathers seem to have apprehended this very tendency. Washington warned against it when he said: 'The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all departments in one and thus create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism.'"

"Our government must express the will of the people, not the will of the chief executive."

"It was this excessive insistence of the executive will which brought us into disfavor with the world, when we ought to have riveted its confidence and established American leadership for all time to come."

To Consult Congress.

"If I am elected I mean to do more than to co-operate and co-ordinate with congress—I am going to consult and converse with the men and women of America."

"I would rather trust the great unrecurrent of American thought and conviction than the fellow with the greatest propagandist program ever inaugurated. We may trust the deliberate judgment of our people on affairs at home and abroad. And I mean to earn that judgment."

Senator Harding made a plea for the development of American waterways, not as a competitor of American highways, but as a co-worker in the solving of the transportation problem. He scored both his own and the Democratic party for the past mistakes in making "pork barrel" appropriations for water power development.

From Ashland, Senator Harding's train will re-cross the Ohio river into West Virginia for a brief speech at Ceno and then start northward in his home. The senator is scheduled to reach Columbus at 9:20 o'clock tonight and two hours later he will be home again in Marion.

SENATOR ESCAPES
WITHOUT INJURYAccident Due To Breakdown Of One Of the Cars.

Enroute With Senator Harding, Pomeroy, O., Sept. 29.—By a most miraculous piece of luck, Senator W. G. Harding and Mrs. Harding escaped death or serious injury today when their special train was partially wrecked at Millville, a small station in the West Virginia mountains. While the Harding special was running at 35 miles an hour along the Ohio river between Parkersburg and Huntington, the trucks under the Harding private car "Ideal" broke down and the car left the tracks. A B. & O. brakeman sensing something wrong applied the emergency brakes and the train was brought to a halt just after crossing a trestle over a deep gully. The "Ideal" rode the wooden ties across the high bridge, splitting many of them.

It was considered almost a miracle that the car remained upright across the chasm and did not plunge thirty feet into a small stream. All the occupants of the Harding car were badly shaken up, but no one suffered even a minor injury.

The track was torn up for a distance of 200 yards where the heavy "Ideal" was dragged along off the rails. The other four cars composing the Harding special were not injured, and after abandoning the "Ideal" where it lay, the train proceeded on to Huntington.

The Harding baggage and guests were transferred to the car ahead doubling up in compartments with attaches and newspaper correspondents.

Sensor Harding was sitting in the observation end of his car talking with Gus J. Karger, a newspaper correspondent, when the accident occurred. Both he and Mrs. Harding remained calm and unexcited, although the jolting was terrific and vases of flowers and window panes began to crash about.

The accident occurred at a remote spot along the river where there was not even a railroad station, only a small group of shacks and no telegraph facilities.

Railroad officials who examined the car and the track declared that broken trucks had caused the mishap and pronounced "a miraculous" that there had been no serious results.

Sensor Harding examined the track and car closely. "Who's the Jonah on this trip, Senator?" he was asked.

"Jonah," he replied looking at the splintered trestle and the yawning

Belfast, Sept. 29.—Street fighting in which at least two persons were killed and many wounded, was in progress here throughout the night. The city was in darkness, rioters cut the feed wires leading to the electric power station.

Troops fired upon the mob and at times the fusillades between soldiers and rioters reached great violence. There was a pitched battle in Falls Road.

Heavy forces of troops are patrolling the streets. Tanks are held in readiness if a new battle breaks out on a big scale.

Copenhagen, Sept. 29.—General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik forces have broken the front of the red army, according to an unofficial dispatch printed by the newspaper Tidende today. The telegram says:

This is the second mishap which has occurred to the Harding train since leaving Marion three days ago. Coming eastward on Monday the senator's special was sideswiped by a switch engine in the Pittsburg railroad yards.

MOVE IS SECRET

Striking Miners Refuse
Stubbornly To Return To Their Jobs.

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Coal operators in the Tug river strike field began today the importation of strike breakers on an extensive scale. One hundred twenty-five men recruited mostly from factories in Akron, Ohio, and other points in that region, reached here for distribution throughout Mingo county and the Pond creek field across the river in Pike county, Kentucky.

The men were brought into the town and sent on their way to outlying mines almost before the townspeople were aware of their presence. The local authorities and the United States troops, by keeping the movement secret, took no chances of a repetition of the trouble here last week when a mob charged furiously through the main streets on the heels of a small party of strike breakers, and were dispersed only at the muzzle of long army rifles.

High up on the bluffs across the river are the W. S. Leckie collieries, working less than normal capacity because of the labor shortage. Around the mines are empty houses—comfortable dwellings. The company stores are stocked with foodstuffs and clothing. And awaiting the strikers are jobs which according to mine operators would pay each miner an average of $300 a month.

In the face of this the miners refuse to go to work and they freely give their reasons.

It is a desire to affiliate with brother coal miners throughout the country.

INDICATIONS POINT
TO F. W. GALBRAITH
AS LEGION HEADWednesday Sees Close Of
A. L. Convention In Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 29.—All indications early this morning point to the election of Colonel F. W. Galbraith, of Cincinnati, as the next commander of the American Legion. The contest has now narrowed down to a fight between him and Colonel Hanford Mac Nider, of Mason City, Iowa, and while the friends of the Iowa do not concede defeat, it is generally believed that Galbraith has the inside track.

A bitter fight over the formation of negro posts is scheduled in the convention this morning. Strong opposition to their organization has been voiced by the southern delegations and many northern states are lining up with them.

Another attempt will be made today to widen the legion's political activities, it was said. Yesterday, save for a decision to print the record of all public men on questions directly affecting the legion, politics was not mentioned.

A resolution will be adopted today providing for the erection of a memorial to the legion members who were killed by I. W. W. bullets at Centralia, Wash. last fall.

This is the last day of the convention and an exceedingly full program faces the legionaires.

MAKE INQUIRIES.

Akron, O., Sept. 29.—Akron fans who bet heavily on the world's series last season, are today making inquiries as to whether the indictments reported in Chicago will have any effect on the wagers this year. Several thousand dollars change hands here each season during the world's series.

POWER IN ENGLAND

Robert Smille, leader of the English mine workers who threaten to strike and tie up all industries in Great Britain, Smille is said by many English newspapers to be "more powerful than Premier Lloyd George."

He has had several conferences with Lloyd George regarding the proposed strike, but the Premier's appeal was futile.

ARMED GUARDS ON DUTY AT VATICAN
AGAINST OUTBREAKDrastic Measures Are Taken Against Labor Outbreak.

Rome, Sept. 29.—Armed guards are on duty at the Vatican today. Ball cartridges have been issued to the gendarmes and the Swiss guards and the officers have been ordered to be on the alert if there are any further industrial riots or if any attempt is made to invade the Vatican premises.

These precautionary measures were taken as the result of reports that communists planned to occupy the Lateran palace, which is the property of the Holy See.

These reports were current during the recent occupation of palatial estates by peasants and homeless workers.

The official organ of the Vatican, Osservatore Romano, reminds the Italian government that under the law of guarantees the government is responsible for the safety of the pope and the protection of all pontifical property. The newspaper declares that "if the crowd is impregnated with bolshevism it cannot be expected to refrain from invasion of the Vatican premises."

The newspaper advises the government "to take steps if it would avoid a world scandal."

It is understood that Premier Giolitti has assured the papal secretary of state, that every precaution will be taken to assure the Vatican adequate protection.

Dublin, Sept. 29.—The town of Mallow, in county Cork, was swept by fire early today, the torch being applied in reprisal for an attack upon the police barracks. Mills were set on fire simultaneously in various parts of the town and the fire brigade could not turn out on account of the curfew order.

Fifty houses and factories were burned. More than half of the population fled. The refugees charged that officers led policemen and soldiers in sacking the town before it was set on fire.

PROBE REPORT OF ATTEMPTED
1920 SCANDALClique Of Gamblers Said
To Be At Work On Brooklyn.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Repetition Of 1919 Scheme
Alleged To Be In Making Today.

New York, Sept. 29.—Harry E. Lewis, district attorney of Kings county which takes in Brooklyn, announced today that he immediately will start an investigation of a report that a clique of gamblers plans to attempt to bribe members of the Brooklyn baseball team, champions of the National league to lose games purposely in the coming world's series. Lewis' announcement was first intimation that such a scheme was contemplated.

It is expected that the Cleveland American league club will be Brooklyn's opponent in the world's series. The gamblers, it is reported, planned to make certain that Cleveland would win the series by bribing several members of the Brooklyn club, and then bet heavily against Brooklyn.

Lewis this morning sent the following telegram to Maclay Hayne, prosecuting attorney in Chicago where the grand jury has indicted eight White Sox players for crookedness in the world's series last year.

"The New York Evening Sun of Sept. 28 stated: 'Information which has been gathered by New York officials tended to indicate, that the same clique of gamblers who is alleged to have 'fixed' the 1919 series have made plans to have the Brooklyn players 'throw' the 1920 series to the Cleveland club.'"

"I intend to initiate an investigation at once. Will you let me know if you have any information in substantiation of the article above quoted."

Lewis got in touch with President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club and asked him to have all the Brooklyn players call at the district attorney's office. Lewis planned to question all of them as to whether any attempts have been made to bribe them. Ebbets assured the district attorney that all of his players would be there. Ebbets promised the district attorney vigorous support.

Coming.

Toledo, O., Sept. 29.—There will be no further drastic slashing of prices of automobiles according to statements made by local automobile men, who have been attending a big conference of auto manufacturers in Detroit. The paramount purpose of this conference being a discussion of the policy of price reduction.

The Willys-Overland company of Toledo, has announced reductions on Willys-Knight and Overland cars ranging from $100 to $200. In a statement, John N. Willys, president endorsed the views voiced by Henry Ford and declared that manufacturers must take the inflation out of prices before business can resume its normal course.

CHARGES PRESIDENT
WILSON OBTAINED
OFFICE BY FRAUDMonster Republican Meeting Held In Toledo
Tuesday.

Toledo, O., Sept. 29.—Charges that Woodrow Wilson secured the presidency in 1916 by the "greatest fraud ever perpetrated in American politics" were made here last night at a monster Republican meeting by Miss Rose Moriarity head of the women's bureau at Republican state headquarters, Columbus. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, son of the former president also spoke.

"Twenty-four hours after Wilson was re-elected in 1916, he was announcing how we could get into the '21 he had promised to keep us out of," she added.

More than 2,000 women were in the auditorium, the total attendance numbering 4,000.

SUSPENSION OF CHICAGO
BASEBALL PLAYERS FOR
BRIBERY WRECKS CLUBEight Members of Chicago Baseball Team Indicted By Grand Jury For "Throwing" Worlds Series Last Fall Lost To Professional Ball.

CICOTTE, MAKES A FULL CONFESSION

Breaks Down and Tells Jury Of Receiving $10,000 To Allow Cincinnati Team To Win Series; Seven Others Are Implicated.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Two more members of the Chicago White Sox confessed today to charges that they had connived to "throw" the 1919 world series to Cincinnati for a bribe of $100,000. They are Claude "Lefty" Williams, pitcher, who told his story to the grand jury, and Oscar "Happy" Felsch, center fielder, who admitted his part in the gigantic plot to the International News Service.

It was reported that George "Buck" Weaver, another of the eight players under indictment, was preparing to go before the grand jury and make a clean breast of his alleged connection with the scandal.

Presumably on the strength of statements made by Williams, the grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against "Sport" Sullivan and a man named Brown, whom Williams told the jury were agents of the clique of gamblers that bribed the White Sox. Both Sullivan and Brown are Boston men, Williams said.

The indictment of Brown and Sullivan brings the total returned by the grand jury since it began its probe, to ten.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Twelve more indictments against ball players and gamblers probably will be voted today or tomorrow by the Cook county grand jury which yesterday indicted eight members of the Chicago White Sox, according to a statement today by Harvey L. Replogle, assistant state's attorney, who is conducting the probe before the grand jury. Three eastern gamblers and two baseball players are national league teams are said to be among those facing indictment.

"While the indictments returned yesterday went a long way toward accomplishing the purpose of the present investigation," Replogle said, there is still much to come. This morning I will confer with another White Sox player who is inclined to want to tell the grand jury what he knows of the manipulation of the world's series last year. At present I have every reason to believe he will follow the foot-steps of Cicotte and Jackson before the grand jury returns its final report.

"However, I am of the opinion that all of the crooked work was not confined to this series. Just how many and what other games have been 'thrown' I am not as yet in a position to say but there is little question that some of those played this year have looked queer."

"Naturally we are perhaps more interested in prosecuting the crooked gamblers who are more responsible than the men who were unable to resist temptation."

"We have learned the names of at least two of the 'triple ring' that had headquarters in New York and furnished the money to buy up players. The name of the third I hope to get today."

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The Cook county grand jury turned again today to its investigation of crookedness in baseball an investigation that already has resulted in the indictment of eight of the game's foremost stars.

The men whom the jury involved as a result of testimony uncovered by their owner were:

Eddie Cicotte, star pitcher, who waived immunity and confessed, according to court attaches, that he took a $10,000 bribe.

Arnold Gandil, former first baseman.

Oscar "Hap" Felsch, center fielder.

Charles "Swede" Risberg, shortstop.

Claude Williams, pitcher.

George "Buck" Weaver, third baseman.

Fred McMullin, utility player.

Charles A. Comiskey, "the old Roman" and "Kid" Gleason, owner and manager respectively of the Chicago White Sox, turned to the wreck of a million dollar ball club and began plans for building anew the organization that one fell swoop of disaster has all but wiped out.

Comiskey and Gleason are making plans for finishing out the 1920 season and declare that, despite the fact that seven cogs in the pentagon machine are out of the game for this year and perhaps for all time, the White Sox are not yet out of the battle for the flag.

It was expected that Claude "Lefty" Williams, White Sox pitcher will be a witness before the grand jury today. Williams is under indictment but it is believed he will go before the inquisitors and tell what he knows of how the White Sox sold out the 1919 world's series to a clique of unscrupulous gamblers. Williams was named in the confessions made to the grand jury by Eddie Cicotte and Joe Jackson, as one of the men who joined in the plan to "throw" the series to Cincinnati for a price.

John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, who dropped several members of his team presumably because he had evidence of their dishonesty, also was scheduled to be a witness before the grand jury. McGraw has promised to give the jury a full account of every fact he has regarding alleged dishonesty in baseball.

The grand jury's investigation is now expected to be directed chiefly at gamblers who are accused of corrupting baseball players. Indictment of several gamblers whose names have been mentioned since the investigation began is not unlikely at any time. It is said that other ball players will be drawn in to the grand jury net.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS HOMING PIGEONS ON FLIGHT

Two pigeons in the Rexall Drug Company's race, released by Sayre & Hemphill, local Rexall store Saturday, have not yet arrived in St. Louis, the finishing place, according to a telegram received by the local store from Rexall Lofts in that city.

Unfavorable weather conditions have delayed the birds, in many cases according to the telegram, but the pigeons are breaking records despite these conditions. A bird released from Arcadia, Louisiana, travelled five hundred miles and finished first while the bird released from Carruthersville, Missouri, with only 165 miles to travel was fourth.

The telegram says: "Weather conditions delaying some birds. Yours have not trapped in yet. Records are being broken nevertheless. Arcadia, Louisiana bird, five hundred miles wins. Nowata, Oklahoma four hundred miles, second. Dennison, Texas, five hundred and ten miles third. Carruthersville, Missouri, one hundred and sixty five miles fourth."

The birds were all released at the same time, from the 8,000 Rexall drug stores all over the country. The two birds from the local store were released by Edward Sayre, small son of H. L. Sayre, of Sayre & Hemphill, at ten o'clock, Saturday morning. With favorable weather conditions they should have trapped in before this.

VISIT OF FORMER BELLBROOK MAN RECALLS MEMORIES

With the visit of Mr. and Mrs. William Sparks of Springfield to Bellbrook Sunday, villagers there harked back to the days when Mr. Sparks' father, Simon Sparks, was a resident of that place.

The elder Sparks was the author of a brief history of Bellbrook during the closing days of his life, the volume going back to the famous Harrison and Tyler campaign of 1840. Scores of other incidents equally as ancient and dear to the hearts of Bellbrook residents, who live in the memory of a past that was more glorious than the present, were contained in the history, and the visit of the historian's son refreshed memory of the volume and its quaint account of the village history.

REDS SHOW GREAT FORM AT CLOSE OF 1920 SEASON

Having found their level, the Cincinnati Reds are now hanging on third place tenaciously.

From the way the National league champs have been playing in the last few days, it would take more than a charge of dynamite to dislodge them from their position. In fact had they played the brand of ball earlier in the season, that they are putting up against Pittsburgh now, the result in the father league might have been different.

Henry L. Bailey,
Pastor First Christian Church, Piqua

Xenia fans who saw the Reds play Sunday say that had Moran's men played in that form all season they would never have been ousted from first position. The club went into slump however, which coupled with weak pitching dislodged them from the ace position. Real baseball has been their meat ever since, however, in order to keep themselves in third position.

In the American league, Cleveland has practically clinched the pennant. The suspension of eight players of the Chicago White Sox for implication in the baseball scandal wrecks the chances of the Sox, who were the only real contenders for top position in the American league. Cleveland has to win one more game than Chicago to cop the rag, but with the Sox going into the St. Louis series with a patched up lineup, it looks like Ohio will again be the seat of the annual inter-league conflict in October.

ADVOCATES FOR OHIO BARGE CANAL ROUTES SCORE SEPARATE VICTORIES IN HEARINGS

Toledo, O., Sept. 29.—That the Toledo-Cincinnati barge canal advocates have scored heavily on the side of economies for their route and that the Sandusky-Portsmouth route backers had put forth a strong engineering claim appeared today to be the opinion of experts here, following hearings lasting two days before a board of army engineers sitting at the Toledo chamber of commerce.

Prof. C. E. Sherman, head of the civil engineering department of Ohio State university, testified for the Sandusky-Portsmouth route yesterday. Together with Prof. Edward Orton, Jr., of the department of geology his statement formed the principal argument for the central route.

Astronomical Data for the Month of October, 1920, furnished by The Emerson McMillin Observatory of the Ohio State University

Columbus, Sept. 29.—The local mean times of sunrise for any locality are as follows: October 1, 5:56; October 2, 6:03; October 3, 6:10; October 4, 6:18; and October 5, 6:25. The local mean times of sunset for any locality are as follows: October 1, 5:43; October 2, 5:52; October 3, 6:01; October 4, 6:11; and October 5, 6:20.

The Central Standard times of the moon's phases are as follows: Last quarter, October 4, 6:54 a. m.; new moon, October 11, 6:50 p. m.; first quarter, Oct. 19, 6:29 p. m.; full moon, October 27, 8:09 a. m.

The evening sky in early October is almost destitute of any planets. Mars can be seen shortly after sunset low down in the southwest about five degrees above the bright star Antares. If watched for a few nights the motion of Mars can easily be seen. Venus is visible shortly after sunset and near the point where the sun disappears behind the western horizon. It will rise higher and higher every night for a long period.

The principal fixed stars visible during the month are Arcturus in the west and well up from the horizon. Antares low down in the southwest. Vega and the constellation Cygnus almost directly overhead. Cassiopeia high up in the northeast. Alpha Andromeda low down and a little north of east, and Altair high up and a little east of south.

The Emerson McMillin Observatory is open to the public on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. If the night is clear, visitors will be entertained at the telescope; if the night is cloudy, a lecture will be given on some subject in astronomy. Tickets to the lecture are free, but must be obtained in advance.

RAILWAY OFFICIAL DIES Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Richard O'Donnell, vice president of the Pennsylvania in charge of the central region at Pittsburgh, is dead.

"I am satisfied that the central route is the only one having ample water supply for a canal such as we propose," Sherman declared in reply to a question by Col. Judson.

For the Central route it was pointed out that it would provide the largest carrying capacity, the quickest time because of widths and sailing facilities, the best terminals, including control of the Ohio river beyond Cincinnati and Toledo and Cleveland on the north; that it would combine flood protection in the Scioto valley with navigation and be of the greatest benefit to a link in a national chain, because it almost parallels the 83rd meridian.

SENATOR HARDING LEADING BY 2 TO 1 IN STRAW BALLOT

Harding secured 8 electoral votes from this poll while Cox's electoral vote is 167. The total electoral vote as indicated so far in the straw vote is Harding 364 and Cox 167. Because the telegram was not clear Mr. Hunter was unable to state Wednesday just what the actual reduction in the different models of these cars would be, but he is expecting a letter giving details of the price cut.

Sharp reductions in the price of all grades of Willys' Overland automobiles have also been announced. The Hudson, Essex, Overland and Franklin companies have all announced price reductions since the price cutting was started by Ford last week.

WAYNE B. WHEELER CHARACTERIZED AS A "MERE CHATTEL OF THE REPUBLICANS."

The constitution of the United States, as per the 18th amendment thereto, prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. This is conceded to be one of the most forward movements in the line of civilization ever adopted by any nation.

In the accomplishment of this wonderful reformation in civil government, all know that the Anti-Saloon League stands forth as the chief promoter, and has been accorded the greatest praise for its beneficent work.

On the other hand, all who denounce the Anti-Saloon League are classed as opponents of Temperance—as belonging to the whisky crowd—as favoring saloons, which have been characterized as the "horrible lighthouse of hell." Perley A. Baker is the Superintendent and Wayne B. Wheeler the General Counsel of the Anti-Saloon League.

At the time of the nomination of Governor Cox by the San Francisco democratic convention, it was freely charged that the liquor and Tammany influences predominated, to such an extent that that old wheel-horse of Temperance, William J. Bryan, said his "heart was in the grave."

But honest people were still willing to wait until Governor Cox positively aligned himself as "wet," before charging him to be so.

Now, however, he has cast the die—has directly associated himself with the liquor interests—and as such turns his back on all who favor Temperance.

He does it by vilifying the leaders of the magnificent Anti-Saloon League. At Cheyenne, Wyo., on Sunday, as testified by Faulkner of the Enquirer, Governor Cox claimed that the Anti-Saloon League had submitted questions to both Senator Harding and himself, that he had not responded, but Senator Harding had. He explained the difference in these questions, as he understood them, and then says:

"In face of this disturbing revelation, first aid was needed from some source. If it had been given by Chairman Hays it would have been unavailing, but Mr. Wheeler, true to his adherence in the past to the reactionary influences of the commercial wing now in charge of the Republican party, came forward with a blundering and unscrupulous defense. It is inconceivable how any sensible person would attempt to foist such a thing upon the public, and (further, how conscientious members of the Anti-Saloon League can have further doubts as to Wayne Wheeler being, what I already have charged, 'a mere chattel of Republican headquarters.'"

"The habitual trickery of Wheeler, which we are used to in Ohio, by the way, is obvious in the face of his oft-repeated statement that the Anti-Saloon League now was interested only in what might be done with the Volstead act, and still he made no attempt whatsoever to ascertain Senator Harding's stand on what he, Wheeler himself, says is the real issue."

This expression was made on Sunday, and inferentially to Mr. Faulkner, after which the Governor attended the Episcopal Church at Cheyenne, but we challenge him to find ten members of his home church at Dayton who will agree with him as to the "habitual trickery" of Wayne B. Wheeler.

THE PILGRIM FATHERS.

The three-hundredth anniversary (December 21st) of the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers to America is commemorated not only in New England and other parts of our land, but in other lands.

The Pilgrims came originally from England. Scrooby, in Nottinghamshire, is the birthplace of the movement. In that village a church was formed about 1606 by people who had separated from the established Episcopal Church.

Persecuted by ecclesiastical authorities because of their separation, they decided to emigrate to Holland, whither they had been preceded by others in like spiritual case, who there sought and secured a haven of religious toleration and self-government.

It was forbidden by an old law to leave England without license; hence it was only after several unsuccessful attempts to get away by stealth separately or in a body that at last, in 1608, they met again in Amsterdam. A year later they moved in a body to Leyden. Here they found employment in local trades, while church life was kept up under the ministry of their pastor, John Robinson.

But Leyden could not be their permanent habitation. They lived as men in exile, and sought a home where they could maintain their nationality and enjoy religious liberty. They considered the West Indies and Guiana. But their choice, after a day of humiliation, thanksgiving and praise, was America. Articles were signed with a company of English merchants, who subscribed the capital necessary to finance the undertaking, and proper powers of colonization and self-government were secured.

The Mayflower, a vessel of 180 tons, was purchased and sent with a party of colonists from London to Southampton, there to await the Leyden party, who were to be brought on the Speedwell, a vessel of only sixty tons. Reaching this country, they inspected various locations, and finally debarked at Plymouth, Mass., on December 21, 1620.

The official statement of the Society of Mayflower Descendants says the party consisted of 103 persons. The nucleus of the party was thirty-four adult males, of whom eighteen were accompanied by their wives, and fourteen had children—twenty boys and eight girls. The rest were menservants and maid-servants.

Their coming was, primarily, a religious movement. It was also political and governmental. In aiming at freedom of worship they were really bringing to an issue the struggle of centuries, and pointing the way to a broader and freer life for people on both sides of the sea.

The State Fish and Game Bureau has aimed a blow at the high cost of Thanksgiving dinners, with the announced plan of stocking the state with wild turkeys. But what good is that to the fellow without a gun.

Evidently the follower of the Democratic party, who hails from Urbana, and who lost his temper when he saw the precious G. A. R. drum being used in a Republican parade, and promptly wrecked the piece, rather than have it in such a gathering is simply following the example of Mr. Wilson in his league of nations stand.

IT DOESN'T TAKE MUCH OF A JOLT SOMETIMES TO START AN AVALANCHE

Although perhaps a rather biased reader of political news we nevertheless read with undivided interest any statement pertaining to the league of nations especially when written by the president himself, and after reading his recent reply on the Irish question, we feel as much in the dark as ever concerning merits of the case.

Although America was defeated in the James Gordon Bennett air races in France, Tuesday, it must be impressed on the mind of even the casual reader that ours is nevertheless a sportsmanlike nation.

It is as yet an open question just how Governor Cox will view the belated entrance of Mr. Wilson into the presidential campaign, but the matter can be but of little moment at this late day.

The autoist who used a match to look into his gasoline tank, thereby causing a near catastrophe, has doubtless lost all chance of convincing his wife of the soundness of his political arguments.

Gas users, says a report, will be classified by the companies. Hope we will be placed in the preferred class.

A word to the wise may be sufficient, but some of us need a dictionary.

The paste pot, although a rather bedraggled object of general contempt that merely litters up a desk, at least inspires the quality of stick-to-itiveness.

A classified ad in a worthy contemporary reads, "why rent when you can buy a lot," but it fails to mention what the buyer is going to live in after he buys the lot.

Suggestion for today—why not preserve the abandoned Xenia work house as a curious relic to the next generation, who will be told that that is where they used to put 'em before prohibition went into effect.

J. R. FITZPATRICK DIES WEDNESDAY

Prof. Joseph Raymond Fitzpatrick for eleven years teacher of chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, and formerly member of the faculty of Cedarville college, died at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzpatrick, near New Jasper.

Death followed a long illness from a cancerous trouble. Early last spring he was obliged to abandon his teaching and came to the home of his parents where he was under treatment for his trouble.

Prof. Fitzpatrick was 43 years of age. He was born near Jamestown. Of an ambitious nature, he worked his way through Cedarville college, graduating with honors in 1904. He became a teacher in his alma mater, remaining there for five years, when he went to the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia to fill the chair of chemistry. He was one of the most successful educators in the country, and his ability was shown by the fact that other members of the faculty of the Pennsylvania university were accustomed to take matters which interested them to him for consultation.

He was a member of the Xenia lodge of Masons, and in Philadelphia took the thirty-second and Shriners degrees of that order. He was unmarried. Surviving him with his parents, are a brother, Foster, who lives near Jamestown, and a sister, Miss Merle, at home. Funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday at the home of his parents.

WILL GO AHEAD WITH WORK ON COUNTRY CLUB

At a meeting of the membership committee of the Xenia Country Club held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening a final check was made on all the stock placed in the ten day campaign, the results indicating that the proposed club is assured, according to members of the committee.

The committee decided to call a meeting of all the stockholders at the Chamber of Commerce Friday evening, October 8, to effect a permanent organization and plans discussed as to the most satisfactory manner in which to develop the country club site.

Estimates will be presented at this meeting regarding the amount of money to be used on the club house preparing it for occupancy. It is estimated that a great deal of work preparing the club for occupancy can be done before cold weather sets in.

CEDARVILLE

Miss Helen Oglesbee entertained thirty-five girls Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the announcement of the marriage of Miss Irene Wright to Rev. James L. Chesnut in October. The living room was attractively decorated with maidgolds. In the dining room a color scheme of pink and white was carried out by pink roses and pink dahlias. A dainty two course luncheon was served and as favors each girl was given a white rosebud among whose petals was concealed a small pink heart, bearing the names of Miss Wright and Mr. Chesnut, and the date. After luncheon each guest was given a white paper heart on which each wrote four lines of advice in rhyme, to the bride. These were read, collected, and bound into a little book which was presented to the bride. Other interesting pleasures helped to make it a very pleasant afternoon. Both Miss Wright and Mr. Chesnut are graduates of Cedarville College in the class of 1918, the latter also a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary 1920. At present Rev.

LAXATIVE QUININE TABLETS

THE GOSSIP.

I burn some joss-sticks every night, and as they burn I say, "Preserve me from the evil plight that Jinks is in this day!" For Jinks possessed the gossip's tongue, and every spiteful tale by him was far and farther flung, until the lie grew stale. With him a slander foul and grim was sure to make a hit, and baseless rumor seemed to him like proofs of holy writ. A man may thus traduce his friends in safety for a time, but soon or late his effort ends in carnivals of crime. And Jinks passed on some vicious yarns, as he was prone to do, concerning J. Adolphus Barnes, which tales were far from true. Alas, alas, my spirit shrinks from setting down this line; for J. Adolphus climbed on Jinks and skated down his spine. This J. Adolphus is a gent of mighty bones ad thews, and when he for his victim went steel spikes were in his shoes. And Jinks, to spread his gossip vain, no longer blithely trots; he's lying on a bed of pain, all tied in sailors' knots. The doctor says he's but a wreck, who once wild rumors chased; his arms are wound around his neck, his legs around his waist. No neighbors seek his humble cot to say that Barnes was wrong; and people cry, "He merely got what he's invited long."

Chesnut is pastor of the Seventh Reformed Presbyterian church at Philadelphia.

OBJECTS TO USING DRUM IN PARADE

Because the bass drum belonging to the Urbana G. A. R. Post was to be used in a Republican meeting at Mechanicsburg last Friday night Llewellyn Niles, Democratic member of the Post, rather than see the drum used at a Republican meeting struck it from the hands of Dr. H. G. Butcher, the drummer, and then kicked the head out of the instrument.

So says the Urbana Democrat. It is alleged that parade leaders had secured permission to use the band, and the party was about to start when Niles appeared and demanded the drum. When Butcher refused, the former struck him across the hand with his cane, knocking the drum to the ground, where he ruined it for use in the Republican parade, by kicking out the drum head.

WILL ATTEMPT TO STOCK STATE WITH WILD TURKEYS

Although practically not known in Ohio for 40 years, wild turkeys may be returned to the woods of this state, if plans of the State Bureau of Fish and Game are successful.

The Bureau has raised 75 turkeys which will be transferred as soon as possible to the game refuge which the state proposed to establish in Southern Ohio.

It is pointed out that Pennsylvania brought back the wild turkey in five years and they now afford excellent sport for hunters there. The Ohio Bureau brought a dozen birds for breeding purposes here this spring and the 75 birds raised are expected to multiply by next spring. The birds will be distributed in the game refuges first and when the birds are sufficient in number game refuges over the state will be thrown open to hunters.

BANDITS HOLD UP TRUCK WITH WHISKY

Elyria, O., Sept. 29.—Two trucks, laden with four hundred cases of bonded whiskey, were the loot of nine armed bandits on the outskirts of Elyria last night. The drivers were held up as they were entering town. They were ordered to halt, but disregarded the order and a fusillade of bullets followed. They then surrendered, and the bandits drove them four miles into the country and left them.

The truck drivers told police that they were on their way from Lynchburg, near Cincinnati, for New York.

MAKES ARRANGEMENT FOR COMING SHOWS

Frank F. Turley, special agent for the K. G. Barkroot Shows, which will appear in this city all next week for the benefit of the police and firemen's pension fund, was in this city Tuesday making arrangements for the coming of the shows.

The Barkroot Shows are the oldest travelling carnival aggregation on the road, and while not the biggest they rank high up in number of concessions and quality of the shows. This week they are playing in Springfield, for the benefit of the Social Service League.

According to the arrangement made by the company with the city, the shows pay the regular license for appearing here and will also devote five percent of profits to the fund for the police and firemen's pension.

A women's popularity contest will be conducted by the carnival company here, and a diamond ring will be given the winner. The contest always proves an interesting part of the show's run in any city, and it is expected that it will serve as an interest-getter during the coming week. The contestant securing the most votes at the rate of one penny a vote will be not only accorded the most popular girl in the city but will also be given the diamond ring. There will be lesser prizes for those who finish second and third, and the money thus derived will serve to swell the pension fund.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-seven years old, married eight years, and have two children. Now I am in deep trouble. I have been in divorce proceedings (that was about three years ago, but forgave my husband and took him back on his promise to reform.

As it was all in vain and proved worse than ever, I again started a suit. But my husband begs me and says he is willing to do anything in the world for me just to forgive and to forget.

I am a nervous wreck and under a doctor's care at present. At times I think to unite and again I don't, as I could never forget the wrong he did me. I know if I went back I could not stand it any longer, for it is serious and a thing I cannot mention. The secrets of my married life are deep in my heart and they cannot be forgotten.

My husband said he loved me dearly. He showed a kind heart toward me, but he has an awful temper and is unreasonable. I can't say I love him, but still like him.

Do you think I should forgive (not forget, as I could not) for the sake of my two sweet children, and take the burden upon me which will keep me in poor health and nervous? I am a Catholic and do not believe in divorce. Please give me your best advice. I think that divorce in such a condition is necessary before I sacrifice my life for one man and have my minor children behind which need me and my care.

I believe that divorce is justifiable in many cases. Since you believe that life with your husband will seriously impair your health and result in death, it is only reasonable that you should prefer to save yourself for your children. You have not told me the cause of your trouble, but I can see from your letter that it is most serious. Perhaps your physician can advise you in such a way that you will feel more confident that you are choosing the right course.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Last year at school I used to keep company with a young man who went out of town to live right after graduation. He asked me to write to him and gave me his address. I wrote and did not receive an answer until yesterday. He says he has been away most of the time and is ashamed that he has not written before. He asks me to forgive him and to give him another chance. He says if I will answer this time I will never have any cause to complain.

I would like to correspond with him. Should I do as he says? PUZZLED.

Yes, write to him. Do not refer to his former neglect.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl at the age of sixteen. I accidentally met a boy who fell in love with me. I do not seem to love him, as he talks so foolishly when he is out with me. I have been out with him twice and I know he loves me and will ask me to marry him, but I don't want to marry him.

He is twenty-three years old and good-looking. He promised me things and has not kept his word. Please tell me how I can break his love before we will become engaged? SWEET SIXTEEN.

"No" is the solution of your problem. It is not necessary to become engaged if you say no when he asks you to.

I do not believe you should be going with the young man. Wait until you are a year or two older before you go with young men. In the meantime study and enjoy your girl friends.

OVER SCORE OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS HOLD FIFTY SECOND REUNION IN XENIA TUESDAY

Twenty-one of the nine hundred and seventy-eight gallant soldiers, who in the spring of 1862 struck their first blows in the War of the Rebellion, gathered for the fifty-second annual reunion of the veterans of the Seventy-fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, which was held in this city Tuesday.

The gathering was held in Lewis Post hall in the basement of the court house. The number of veterans of the Seventy-fourth was more than doubled by members of their families and friends and veterans of other regiments, who helped them enjoy their annual reunion.

T. J. North of Vandalia was re-elected president of the Seventy-Fourth Association, a position which he has held for several years, and his home town was selected as the place for holding the reunion in 1921. The date for the reunion was left to the selection of the executive committee of which Michael Bennett of Vandalia, was named chairman. Other officers of the association elected Tuesday are: vice president, George Moore, Xenia; secretary, John W. Hedges, Xenia; treasurer, John H. McPherson, Xenia; chaplain, H. H. Cassell, Vandalia.

Business occupied the morning session and at 1 o'clock the veterans and their families and friends had dinner at the Manhattan restaurant. An impromptu program was given at the "camp fire" in the afternoon, many of the comrades giving talks reminiscent of war times. Among those who talked were Comrades North, Cassell, Bennett, Irving Williamson, and McMillen. Letters extending greetings to the comrades and expressing their regret at not being able to attend the reunion, were read from the following comrades, Harrison Galloway, Stroud, Okla.; J. N. Laughhead, Illinois; Frank Shilling, James R. Milner, Walter Collins, Bloomington, Ind.; Wilson St. John, R. S. Tinsley.

The seventy-fourth regiment was organized in camp at Xenia, in October 1861, to the extent of seven companies. February 24, 1862 it was ordered to Camp Chase, where three full companies were added, making the complement.

The regiment was ordered to the field April 20, 1862, and reported at Nashville, April 24. The first real service performed by the company was on its march over the Cumberland mountains with General Dumont in June. Immediately after it was detailed as guard to the railroad between Nashville and Columbia. It returned to Nashville September 3 and remained there during the blockade of September, October and November. In December it was placed in the Seventh Brigade, Eighth Division. Fourteenth Army Corps, Department of the Cumberland. The Seventy-fourth was with General Rosecrans when he made his movement on Bragg's Army at Murfreesboro. Its first engagement was the battle of Stone River in which it lost in killed and wounded 109, and in prisoners 46. The regiment engaged in several famous battles, including Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, before its men were allowed to return home on a 30 day furlough in January 1864. The regiment was received with the greatest honors in Xenia. March 17, the regiment re-assembled in Xenia, and before leaving for the field, passed resolutions extending thanks for the hospitality and kindness with which it had been met here.

The regiment rejoined its brigade at Graysville, Ga., April 12, and on May 7, started on the long and arduous Atlanta campaign. The regiment gave gallant service throughout the war and it took part in the grand review of the troops in Washington after Lee's surrender in 1865 and was mustered out at Camp Dennison, O., July 11.

The roster of those attending the fifty-second reunion of the regiment is:

H. H. Cassell, Vandalia, O.

NEW KIND OF BEAN MAKES APPEARANCE

Oliver Watson, of Bellbrook, is responsible for the statement of the introduction of a new type of bean in the village of Bellbrook.

C. F. Mills, according to Mr. Watson, is sponsoring the activities of the new bean, which has grown to such proportions that it resembles a gourd rather than a bean. The new vegetable ranged from 15 to 30 inches in length and from four to eight inches in diameter. When it is ripe, it is prepared for food by stripping off the exterior which resembles the rind of a melon or pumpkin after which it is cut into thin slices and fried.

Physician Explains Why Lack Of Iron In the Blood Saps the Strength and Vitality and Often Makes Men and Women Look and Feel Old Before Their Time.

By Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author

Signs of old age are plainly to be seen in many a man and woman who ought still to be enjoying the rugged health and activity of the early prime of life. Yet often the real cause of their decline is nothing more than lack of iron in the blood and it is surprising how quickly these conditions are frequently corrected once the right kind of iron is supplied.

I am constantly coming across cases in my practice where people not yet 40 show much of the nervousness, lack of energy and general run-down condition which might possibly be expected to come twenty years later in life while others at 60 may still be young in feeling, mentally alert with steady nerves and strong bodies.

Whether we have health and long life is often a question which each one must determine for himself. Signs of old age are largely due to a deposit of waste matter in the blood vessels and cells of the body. Without plenty of strengthening iron the blood is utterly lacking in the power to overcome this slow poisoning process and keep the body strong and healthy. To make up for this deficiency I usually prescribe organic iron like Nuxated Iron which by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells helps renew the wasted tissues and build strength and energy to withstand the ravages of time. I know of no more simple means by which a person can find out if his blood needs iron than by making the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. You can procure Nuxated Iron from your druggist on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or your money will be refunded.

ACTION OF COMISKEY SAVES REPUTATION OF NATIONAL SPORT

To Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, baseball fans the country over are taking off their hats today.

For the old Roman made baseball history at Chicago Tuesday, when he suspended eight star players from his roster for alleged implication in the baseball scandal, following the returning of indictments against them by a Chicago grand jury.

A game behind the Cleveland Indians and fighting hard for top position, Comiskey sat in the midst of his crumbling baseball empire at the White Sox park following the returning of the indictments and wired each of the eight players involved of their suspension. He immediately wrote out checks paying off Weaver, Cicotte and Jackson and announced that checks would be sent to the other men involved at once. In his telegram, the Roman said he would make every effort to drive these men from organized baseball in case they are found guilty.

Thus did Comiskey, who has owned the White Sox since the inception of the American League, sacrifice personal gain to clean up baseball, and thus did he immortalize himself before the baseball loving public and the lovers of clean sport. The action of the Roman will go down as one of the brightest spots in the history of the game and it will undoubtedly serve as the buoy which will bring the grand old game out of the storm and strife which presently threatens to wreck it.

The consensus of the fans is that such action as Comiskey displayed was necessary to save organized baseball from disgrace and possible failure as the national sport. Only a clean breast of the incidents which led to the "throwing of games" and prompt and decisive action on the part of owners, showing that they did not favor or such matters, will help the game weather the storm and prove to future generations among the players that it is better to play straight.

In suspending these eight men, with the club fighting to beat out Cleveland in the American League race, Comiskey wrecked his baseball ship and sternly sat and watched it sink, because he knew that such action was necessary for the good of the game. Seven of the

The close of the contest rally between the deacons and trustees was Sunday night, Sept. 6th. Over seven hundred dollars is believed to be the total amount, but a certain report of $684.41 was made withholding other until a later date. One teaspoonful of extract will flavor one quart of pudding or custard.
One tablespoonful of water should be allowed to each egg for omelet.
One cup sugar and one tablespoon of extract will sweeten and flavor one quart of any mixture to be frozen.
Remember that freezing takes away some of the strength of sugar and flavoring so that more is to be used than for other custards.

Warm a pint of milk. Mix in three cents worth of yeast and two teaspoons of sugar. Put in the hollow. Now mix well and let rise for one-half hour.
After one-half hour mix in one-half cup of shortening, three quarters of a cup of sugar, two tea-spoons of salt and two eggs. Work well with the hands until dough does not stick to them; if dough is too thin add more flour, or if too thick, more milk.

Cover dough and let rise in a warm place from two to three hours.
This amount makes two pecan rolls.
Cinnamon may be added if desired; sprinkle it over dough before rolling it.
Old Fashioned Sugar Cookies.—One cup butter or lard, or half and half, one-half cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one tea-spoon baking powder, two eggs, two cups sugar.
When ready to cut out sprinkle sugar on and roll in lightly, then cut and put in oven.
Have good hot oven at first, then turn gas slightly lower when putting cookies in to bake.

FOR THE TABLE.
Lima Beans With Bacon.—Soak one pound of lima beans over night. Drain, cover with boiling water, add one-quarter teaspoon of soda and let stand a few minutes. Drain again and rinse. Cover with warm water and cook over a slow fire until beans are tender and water nearly evaporated.
Add four table-spoons bacon drippings, one teaspoon salt, two tea-spoons chopped onion and a sprinkling of cayenne pepper.
Serve with four or five slices of fried bacon placed uniformly over the beans.
Cottage Cheese Salad.—To one pint of cottage cheese add one pint of chopped fine. Wash crisp lettuce leaves and place on individual salad plates. Put several table-spoons of the cottage cheese on each plate and sprinkle with English walnuts (chopped fine). If preferred, dot with whipped cream or mayonnaise.

MR. CLAXTON ASKS TO CALL

CHAPTER 129
"Yes, I wrote Kenneth Lawrence. I gave him my address," I replied slowly to Mother's question. Some way I felt a reluctance to talk of Kenneth, even to her.
"Have you heard from him since you wrote?"
"Yes, just a short letter. He says he may come to Chicago before long. His superintendent is away and he is very busy."
"You will be glad to see him, I expect. Altho we did not know him very well." Mother had said "we" as was natural to her. In the old days my friends were her friends too. I was not allowed to receive anyone they did not know. Kenneth had been Claudia's cousin, and so welcomed. But neither Father nor Mother knew him well. But I felt that I did—not only as I remembered him, the good times we had together, but as I had held him in my thoughts ever since.
"I shall be glad to renew the acquaintance," I replied quietly. As I said it my heart beat more rapidly and I felt my face flush. I changed the conversation before Mother noticed.
In the days that followed I was often tempted to tell her how I felt about Kenneth Lawrence. But it seemed so foolish in me to have held him so in my thoughts all these years without knowing anything of his feeling for me—or what it would be when he saw me so changed—that I said nothing. He was almost a phantom lover—if such a term as "lover" could be used—a dream companion whom I had endowed with all that makes a man desirable.

Perhaps he, too, had changed. I dismissed the thought almost as soon as it came. He had been a ranchman when I met him, was still one, while I and my life had altered in every particular. But not even to Mother would I confess my fear that he might be disappointed when he saw how different I was from the happy, care-free girl he had known. Not that I wasn't happy, especially now that I had Mother with me, but I had lost much of the vivacity, the girliness that had been mine in the long ago before Dad left us.
Mother had written Mr. Claxton a little note of thanks for her flowers and I also had told him how we had appreciated his thoughtfulness.
"I wish I might do more," he said with a glance that made me flush. "May I call on your Mother and you some evening?"
"Certainly! Mother will be pleased."
"And you?"
"I of course will feel honored." My reply was a bit sarcastic, but I seemed unable to help it.
"It is I who shall feel honored if you let me come."
That was all. The words were commonplace enough, yet unusual between employer and employee. But I felt that he meant what he said.
"That was one thing about Frank Claxton—you felt sure he never said anything he didn't mean. If I was pleased, and if Mother also appeared a bit elated, it could not be wondered at. I had told her just what he said, and she had remarked:

"I am quite anxious to meet this man who has been so kind to you. It is kind in him to call—yet Zena, we must not feel that he is doing us too much of a favor. You are his equal in every way save in that we have no money. He recognizes this I am sure, and that explains many things you have told me of him. I am positive I shall like him."
"Of course you will and he will like you. I can just see his face when he meets you, Mother. You look just what you are, you know, a born aristocrat and a real old dear who is as brave and courageous as they make them." I often lapsed into a sort of slang which at first had worried Mother. But she had become accustomed to it, and now only smiled.
"Why shouldn't I be courageous when I have such a daughter?"
Mother was very frail. Her only complaint had been that she was unable to earn money and so make my burden lighter. But she never had recovered from the shock of Dad's death, never been at all strong since. For her to be confined to any sort of work was out of the question. At times I feared that even the keeping of our little home would be too much for her, and would insist upon either doing the heavy cleaning myself at night, or upon hiring it done—which as yet was a bit extravagant.
A few days after he had asked if he might call, Frank Claxton came.
Tomorrow—A Call.

The Reduced Cost of Tire Mileage for Your Small Car

Do you realize that Goodyear Tires are priced no higher today than in 1910 and that their mileage actually costs less than it did a decade ago?

During this period Goodyear has been able steadily to increase the amount of mileage built into its tires and, consequently, the cost of Goodyear mileage has actually declined.

In no part of the Goodyear line has this decline been more marked than in the present 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1/2 and 31 x 4-inch sizes of Goodyear Tires, made especially for small cars.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for them—get the unusual value contained in their construction and delivered in their mileage.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise anyone going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR BURNING ECZEMA

Apply Zemo—the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid—Easy to Use—Does Not Stain

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied if good clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 35c, or $1.00 for large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive, antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

In skin troubles, ordinary soaps are irritating and liable to aggravate the condition. Use Zemo soap. It is antiseptic, soothing and hastens the process of healing.

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND

CLEAR THE THROAT of phlegm and mucus, stops that tickling, opens the air passages for easier breathing and costs the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing, soothing medicine.

Grateful Father Tells What It Did
W. E. Curry, 130 6th St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "I have a little girl 6 years who has a good deal of trouble with croup. I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, giving it to her according to directions, and obtaining instant relief for her. My wife and I use it whenever bothered with a bad cold or cough, and I will say that it is the best remedy for a bad cold, cough, throat trouble or croup that I ever saw."

Parents who use Foley's Honey and Tar know it is safe and no harm will come even if an overdose should be given by accident. It tastes good and children like it. It won't upset the delicate stomachs of young children, delicate persons or elderly people.

TO PUT ON needed flesh take

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By restoring the normal action of the deranged organs, it builds the flesh up to a safe and healthy standard—promptly, pleasantly and naturally. The weak, emaciated, thin, pale and puny are made strong, plump, rosy, and robust. Nothing so effective as a strength-restorer and flesh-maker.

In everything that's claimed for the "Discovery"—in purifying the blood, and building up the flesh and strength—it is reliable.
